

Kathleen Allan

composer · conductor · soprano

kathleen@kathleenallan.com

106 words:

Conductor, composer and soprano Kathleen Allan is becoming internationally respected for her performances and compositions. She is the Director of Choral Studies and Associate Conductor of Orchestras at the Vancouver Academy of Music. She recently made her Asian debut conducting Handel's Messiah and Bach's Christmas Oratorio in Japan. Her compositions have been performed throughout the Americas and Europe. She is the recipient of the Ernest MacMillan Prize in Choral Conducting and is the 2016 Conducting Apprentice of the National Youth Choir of Canada. She holds a master's degree in conducting from Yale University and a degree in composition from UBC.